SALTWATER FRESHWATER 2013

Despite the rain Saltwater Freshwater Festival in Taree brought the community together. Some 4000 people came together in Taree this Australia Day to celebrate the Aboriginal culture. The rain didn't dampen our spirits. The children's tent, the weaving area and the youth hip hop workshops with Last Kinection were amongst the most popular activities.

The crowd sat down in the yarn tent to hear a heart-felt conversation around Aboriginal employment, youth and constitutional recognition.

The mini-canoe making tent was also a hit with over 100 lantern canoes produced with hand crafted messages of reconciliation that were used in the finale parade.

Australian legends Coloured Stone rocked the main stage and the final act The Medics, who had flown in from playing the Big Day Out was an impressive finish to a wonderful festival.
